ABOUT RICE VILLAGE

A bustling, historic haven tucked between the oak-lined avenues of the city's finest residences, its medical district, and the leafy reaches of Rice University, Rice Village has remained an iconic Houston locale since 1938. What was once a small collection of barber and deli shops, mom-and-pops, and quirky variety stores has transformed into more than 300,000 SF of premier retail space with over 60 merchants. While the Village is still home to many of its original retailers, it has also added upscale eateries, design boutiques, and trusted brands into its folds such as Navy Blue, Tecovas, Vuori, and Sephora.

With its compelling newcomers, calendar of community events, and lush greenscaping, the Village has begun to bloom into Houston's premier shopping destination and walkable garden district.

BRAND

Our brand line, “It takes a village to shape a village” reflects our collective commitment to one another as well as our retail and restaurant partners. Together, we’re growing greener, more connected, and more cohesive as a village, better interwoven into the cultural and historic fabric of our neighborhood, and better able to serve our community.

The renewal of Rice Village is our shared opportunity to shape both a landmark and a legacy for all of Houston. A place where we can grow into our potential while growing closer to each other. A place for business to bloom and neighbors to dwell, for relationships to blossom and all life to thrive.

OWNERSHIP

Under the leadership of Rice Real Estate Company, the Village is investing in significant improvements that will embrace one of this area’s most defining attributes—its trees. These pockets of plants, oaks, and ivy that envelop our city with an enviable green year-round will shade and span over 889,000 SF of walkable, lush restaurant and retail space.
